Teachers approve Jefferson pact

By JOHN CURRY
Post Staff Writer

The strike is over.

All striking American Federation of Teachers Local 1481 teachers, paraprofessionals, and clerical and office personnel were back at their jobs this morning, after nearly 10 weeks of slow, protracted negotiations over a new contract that ended at 6 a.m. Tuesday when the negotiating teams of the two sides announced a tentative settlement.

The AFT members met in a two-hour closed session in Pacifica just after noon Tuesday, AFT President Marcy Ballard announcing afterward that the ratification vote was 168 to 58 to approve the new two-year contract.

The two groups, about 300 teachers and the rest in the Business and Instructional Support Services group represented by the AFT local, will get a 1½ percent pay increase retroactive to Sept. 1, another 2 percent as of Feb. 1, and 6 percent for next school year, starting next Sept. 1 under the new contract, Mrs. Ballard said after the meeting.

The union had objected strongly to the retroactive feature when it was offered last week, saying it would reward those who didn't honor the strike and punish those who did. But the union agreed as a trade-off after the district tried to put back the start of the 6 percent increase next year back to Oct. 1, then Nov. 1, Mrs. Ballard said.

Some other things in the pact include a 12 percent pay hike for paraprofessionals, with guaranteed hours and full-time positions for them, and some fringe benefits for the part-time paraprofessionals.

Teachers and BISS employees will get district-paid fringe benefits to age 70, and those taking early retirement can go into a "consulting program," working five days a year for a retirement pay increase of $1,000 a year, Mrs. Ballard said.

But there was considerable bitterness among the membership, she went on, because the negotiators also had given in on a no-reprisal clause demand, which means that some two dozen teachers arrested during the strike still must go to court. But the members were especially bitter that there would be no amnesty for about half the 6,500 enrolled students in the district who also honored the strike and didn't go to school, Mrs. Ballard said. These students will be penalized in their education programs for missing the nearly 10 weeks of school.

Mrs. Ballard called this "the most shocking thing" about the district's stand, because it was "punishing the students as well as the teachers. This is squarely on the head of the school board."

The union settled because "The school board was absolutely adamant and the strike could have gone on until next June," Mrs. Ballard conceded.

But, she said, "The integrity of our contract was maintained and they didn't break us, as they had set out to do. We're stronger than we were before."

She said "I feel we got a good pact," considering that "This was a defensive strike." She recalled that the district had wanted to "gut" the former pact. "They didn't get the one thing they wanted - the union's right to carry a grievance procedure," Mrs. Ballard enthused. And the grievance procedures have been broadened to include the other AFT members besides the teachers, the latter having voted to join the union just last spring.

Part of the reason for agreement at this point also was "the feeling that the district wouldn't put one more penny on the table," Mrs. Ballard said.

She said there also was some misgiving at the meeting Tuesday about "the school board deciding to settle on the day of (a school board) election."

The contract talks had sputtered on and off for the first several weeks of the strike, finally settling into marathon sessions four weeks ago at the Dunfey Hotel after many loud protests from parent and student groups about the lack of progress.

The AFT voted Sept. 4 to strike, by almost the same margin as it did to settle Tuesday, and officially went out Sept. 5, the opening day of school. The local also had struck the district for 13 days in September, 1978, winning then what it considered a good contract.

The latest strike went on for 43 working days and 61 calendar days and was the second longest teacher strike in United States history, behind only a three-month walkout in 1967 in Newark, N.J.

A LONG WAY DOWN

This is one of several pathways worn into the landscaped slope on the west side of Gellert Park in Daly City and used by people entering the park from Callan Boulevard. The slope here is about 30 feet high. A suit has been filed against the city on behalf of a 10-year-old girl, charging she lost a tooth and suffered other injuries when she fell down the slope.

Crown Colony's application official: Seeking conversion

Daly City's largest-ever condominium conversion application was filed with the city Planning Community Development Department late last week, when Cadillac Fairview Homes West officially asked for conversion of the Crown Colony Apartments complex on Imperial Way.

In a letter to residents dated Oct. 12, Cadillac Fairview Vice President-Community Development David B. Kuhn Jr. said the company hoped to have the city approvals in hand and the 921 units ready for sale by March, 1980.

The process will begin with the city Planning Commission at its Dec. 11 meeting, after Planning Director Robert-Joe Vasquez has had time to digest and report on the 500-page application, which includes all the background documents, including the original plans for the huge complex.

The commission must have a public hearing and recommend to the City Council, which also will have a hearing, with the whole process expected to last into next spring and possibly longer if there is much controversy.

City Planning and Community Development Director Don Fleming and Crown Colony Tenants Association spokesman Charles Weinstein said Monday they wouldn't be surprised if there is some.

Fleming recalled that the Crown Colony residents turned out in force earlier this year for commission and council hearings on the city's new condo conversion ordinance, which itself was spurred into being by the possibility of the Crown Colony, the city's largest, changing over from apartments.

Weinstein said the residents by and large have decided that they won't fight the conversion, but at a meeting of tenants last Thursday decided that they would seek instead the best available deals for those wishing to stay and those wanting to leave.

"For those staying, there are problems we want rectified before any conversion," Weinstein said, listing parking as the top priority. At present there is one parking space per unit, or a bit more, which is substandard by present city multi-family residential regulations. "But the whole traffic situation around the complex is bad. There's only one entrance, regulated by a four-way stop sign, and there a lot of accidents there," Weinstein said.

Cadillac Fairview said it would assign one space per unit permanently, with others unassigned, and plans "to provide additional surface parking spaces," as well as outside lockable storage cabinets for each unit.

Kuhn's letter listed selling prices of the units in a range of $45,950 to $159,950 to the general public, but with a 10 percent discount to present residents who decide to buy, with first choice on another unit within the complex if they want it.

But these prices are effective as of March 1, and "additional requirements beyond what we have proposed or time delays will necessitate commensurate increases in sales prices," he said.

Of immediate concern to the present residents, Weinstein said, is a "cut-off date" of Oct. 12 they want for purchases at the reduced rates. "Over the last few weeks we've noticed an exodus, and vacancies are filled almost immediately," he said. There is a fear that these may be people moving in quickly with a plan to buy, "which seems a form of speculation."

"We think this a nice place and we'd like to keep it that way or better," he said, but it could be difficult if new owners were to buy just to sell in a year and take a profit.

He said also he hoped some way could be found to discourage families with children from coming into the complex, which till now has been adults only. "We've liked the Crown Colony because it's been quiet, generally, but it won't stay that way with children running up and down the halls making noise. There are no playgrounds within walking distance and nowhere else for them to play," he said.

Cadillac Fairview has promised to re-paint and refurbish the complex inside and out, with new draperies, sound-absorbing carpets and pads, cushion-back vinyl in kitchens and baths, and re-caulking of floors and wall joints as additional soundproofing.

It also will install smoke detectors in each unit and would make sure all appliances were in good working order. Or, or $1,500 additional, the appliances would be replaced with new ones.

But Weinstein said the residents want some firm guarantees on some upgrading and maintenance items, which they likely will press for at the Planning Commission hearing.

Some roofs leak now, for instance, and three of the buildings a few years ago settled a bit, tilting their first-floor patios so that rainwater now drains into the interiors of the units there. The owner has promised to take out a dry stream bed now running through the complex, but which fills with water in rainy seasons which stagnates. That should be a firm commitment, Weinstein said.

"In short, we want some evidence that everything in the complex will

Lessees eye former restaurant

Scholarships are available for a course to become a minister in the Church of God in Sexuality.

A prospectus discusses this and many other fine points of the church, one of two prospective lessees of a former restaurant, bar and disco at 2660 and 2666 Geneva Ave., Daly City, which the agent for the property owner claims is a dead-serious business proposition.

The other would-be lessee is the Poor People's Political Party, which reportedly wants the office space for a new national headquarters to begin its all-power-to-the-people organizational drive on behalf of the 80 percent of the nation's citizens which it says can be classified as poor.

The agent, Ron Zimmerman of San Francisco, a real estate broker and redevelopment entrepreneur, has been fighting a running battle with Daly City city officials for well over a year, he says, as one potential lessee after another has dropped out of consideration for the former Rabb's Plantation House restaurant building, which has been vacant for more than 1½ years.

The property, with 7,000 square feet in the buildings, has been for sale or lease for some time, the lease cost put at 30 cents per square foot, or $2,100 a month, Zimmerman said.

He claimed also that with the mortgage and investment in the property now, there's $325,000 tied up in it, but wasn't sure he could get that much.

Zimmerman says he owns or manages business and residential property all over the Bay Area and as far away as Fresno, but the Geneva Avenue parcel is his first and last in Daly City.

"Daly City has created its own bill of attainder because of the unsavory characters who were there before," Zimmerman said. "They're stigmatizing the property because of what's happened in the past."

He recalled that prospective lessees have been given varying conditions by the city, some even told they weren't wanted, adding he thought it was because some of them were black and "The city doesn't want another black-owned bar there."

He said that in the East Bay, where he was owned and redeveloped many properties, including conversion of old hotels into low-cost condominium housing, "Officials are very easy to work with and we get along beautifully. I have no problems at all."

Things were different when he tried to move the Geneva Avenue property in Daly City, he noted, and in frustration has made tentative lease agreements, now under scrutiny by legal counsel, with the PPPP and Church of God in Sexuality.

"Can you imagine what the San Mateo County Council of Churches would think when this church applies for membership?" he laughed gleefully.

Zimmerman said he wouldn't be surprised if there was a lawsuit filed over the constant denials of the use of the property.

One major stumbling block has been the lack of parking. The corner lot has been built on since 1930 and has no on-site parking. But, Zimmerman noted, the owner of the adjoining property next to the Cow Palace got a variance from the city to allow less than required parking there.

City Director of Planning and Community Development Don Fleming said Monday he is sending Zimmerman a letter outlining the city's requirements for approvals and use permits, including those needed for all property used by churches.

Zimmerman, in the meantime, said he copied some of the prospectus from the Church of God in Sexuality, because he couldn't keep the original. He said also he has had no more talks with a Rev. Williams, leader of the church, which, according to the prospectus, appears to be a new outfit just getting started.

The prospectus begins with "Reproduction is Godliness. Find God Through Sex!"

The church is non-denominational, open to all over 18 years of age and all races, and proclaims that "Your body and bodily functions, including sexual urges, are a gift from your maker, to cherish and enhance, not to hide in shame, nor to develop neuroses over!"

Limited enrollment now is underway, with charges based on ability to pay and a limited number of scholarships available. Lewd conduct, licentious behavior and all drug use are prohibited, and there are "private lessons for the bashful."

The course will consist of 36 lectures and 36 seminar-workshops, with those completing the work to receive a doctor of divinity in religious sexuality, "entitling them to conduct their own series of seminars and lectures and to establish their own churches throughout the world to pass on the benefits they have obtained from the course," it went on.

"Graduates will be assisted in starting their own churches, and it is anticipated the church will grow rapidly as the word gets around."

The prospectus also said classes and seminars will be scheduled for various times of the day to accommodate the schedules of students, and we be "limited for personalized instruction as needed."

Some of the lecture titles include:

Sex therapy for suicidal and depressed persons, auto-eroticism as unnecessary and never really satisfying, dropping inhibitions and experimenting with new forms of sexual expression, avoiding bad sexual habits which offend a partner and instead give pride in self and partner, promiscuity as a false pleasure.

How to obliterate deflating thoughts and how your mind can make you potent, open sex in successful marriage and the dangers of bringing home venereal disease, clinical studies of sexual techniques

Lawsuit is filed over park hillside accident

A lawsuit alleging that a 10-year-old girl suffered several injuries, including a lost tooth, when she fell down a hillside a Gellert Park, has been filed in San Mateo County Superior Court in Redwood City against the city of Daly City.

The suit, filed Oct. 30 by attorney Stuart Wein of San Francisco, charges that the hill, on the west side of the park above the tennis, basketball and volleyball courts, is an attractive nuisance and that the city hasn't been maintaining it properly.

The suit was filed on behalf of Coretta Stevens, the girl, and her father, Ivan Stevens, and claims that the girl fell down the slope while playing there June 19.

Wein said he had filed an injury claim with the city Aug. 13 for $100,000, but that the City Council had routinely denied it and turned the matter over to the city insurance carrier.

The suit filed last week seeks unspecified general damages for the girl, special damages for her father and costs of the suit.

The suit said, "The hill, which is made of dirt and sand, poorly designed and carelessly maintained, has been used as a means of ingress and egress to and from the park, although it is not a safe play area for children. The hill is strewn with bricks, metal pipes and other debris, and interspersed with trees. On various occasions prior to June 19, 1979, numerous other children have ussed the hill and have been injured. The city of Daly City knew or should have known that the hill constituted an attractive nuisance and danger for children who were likely to play on it."

The court is asked to hold the city liable for negligence and for allegedly failing to take precautions to prevent chilren from playing on the hill.

The Stevens girl suffered the loss of a permanent tooth, broken left wrist, damage to three other teeth, and facial injuries, the suit said.

Wein said that from his observation of the hill, it's impossible for a child to go down it without ending up running at the bottom, right onto the paved game courts.

He said his charge about numerous other children having been injured on the hill was based on conversations with other persons in the area.

City Attorney Albert Polonsky said Friday he couldn't comment on the case because he hadn't been served with the suit yet.

Wein estimated that it would be a year before the case would be heard in court, unless it was settled out of court before that.

A pig-kissing contest is in trouble

A Kiss a Pig contest planned for Serramonte High School in Daly City for this Friday may be in trouble - no pig can be found.

What this sad turn of events means for the sponsoring Parent-Teacher-Students Association is that it's going to have to come up with something different for its fund-raiser for school activities, but PTSA President Ruth Galindo isn't sure which way to turn.

The idea was that the presidents of each of the classes and the student body president would collect "votes," in the form of money contributions, at noon Friday, with the one collecting the most getting to kiss the pig at a Spirit Week assembly and rally later that afternoon.

But this fine idea was dashed after its announcement when it was found there weren't any pigs available on farms within driving distance. Mrs. Galindo said she discovered that San Mateo County has an ordinance prohibiting the raising of swine in the county.

"We tried to borrow one somewhere else, but the closest one we could find was in San Juan Bautista (in San Benito County), and that was too far to go to bring it up in the morning and take it back in the afternoon," she said.

"I'm not sure what we'll do to replace the pig," she said, noting that some more conventional alternatives, such as an ulgy legs contest, have been suggested.

"The San Francisco Zoo offered us a python, but we didn't think anyone would want to kiss that," she said.

A donkey was suggested, "so the winner could kiss a you-know-what," she laughed.

But, she said, her group will keep pursuing the idea of something different, and hope to have an unusual stunt for the Friday assembly.

Odor control deadline 'tough,' says manager

Meeting a Feb. 15 deadline for new odor control facilities at its Westlake plant will be tough, North San Mateo County Sanitation District Manager Peter Archuleta told the Board of Directors at its regular meeting Monday.

The project, involving several "scrubbers" to clear gas odors, will cost an estimated $281,000, with bids to be opened Dec. 3, Archuleta said.

The contract will call for completion within 100 days, which would be beyond Feb. 15 deadline as decreed by the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District.

But Archuleta said he plans a meeting Nov. 15 with prospective contractors to impress on them the need for speed.

Archuleta reported that he attended a BAAPCD board meeting Oct. 18 and submitted a time schedule for compliance with the air district's order to abate the odors.

One reason the project may run late, if it does, is that the state Department of Water Resources delayed its approval of the $281,000 construction grant for three weeks, delaying the call for bids.

To move things along, he said, the odor control project will be done in one phase instead of the originally-planned two.

Neighbors in the Westlake area had complained bitterly earlier this year about the odors and noises wafting from the plant, next to Westlake Park and in their midst.

The other prong of the assault on the noise roblem is moving well, with another iterim measure in the works, Archuleta went on.

This will consist of a muffler on the roof of the "PSA skid," an oxygen feeder system, with baffles and two outlets feeding noise away from the direction of the Cliffside Drive neighborhood where most of the complaints originated, the manager said.

The district has installed a muffler inside the building, but Archuleta conceded that that hasn't been completely successful. The outside muffler, at an estimated cost of $3,000 to $4,000, could be installed in a week to 10 days if noise consultant Hugh Perry can find a local manufacturer who can build it.

"It's not an off-the-shelf item," Archuleta told the board.

In other business, Director John Ward asked that the staff prepare a design of a new system to replace the district's present individual sewer service charge billing system, which is based on water usage in the months of January and February.

Ward noted there have been problems in accounting for who used how much water during the two winter months on which the charges for the rest of the year are calculated.

Archuleta confirmed that there have been troubles which have been costly to the district at times, such as the need to re-check insufficient data from water agencies and the possibilities of broken water meters and changes of residents at given addresses which can lead to usage figures being wrong.

Board Chairman Victor Kyriakis called the January-February monitoring period "a build-in flaw" that "might not be as equitable as we thought."

In other business, the board:

• Ratified employment of Max Baker as the new permanent district finance officer, effective Nov. 14 and replacing Monique Carrington, who resigned.

• Heard Archuleta report that design is complete on a watewater transmission system to the Olympic Club and nearly finished on a system to the San Francisco Golf Club. Bids for the work will be called soon. These will be the district's first waterwater sales for irrigation, for which it had received a $716,000 grant in state and federal water reclamation funds.

Fate of 901-unit complex remains up in the air

The fate of The Place apartments in San Bruno will be in limbo until Nov. 13, according to attorneys representing the city and interests that wish to convert the units to condominiums.

San Bruno City Council members could not decide during a closed session Monday whether to pursue or drop litigation intended to block the conversions.

Instead, they asked Assistant City Attorney Michael Galligan to research some points and postponed action on the issue until another executive session set for 7 p.m. Nov. 13.

But Galligan said, "The fact that the city lost a preliminary injunction does not mean the case is over."

He noted the City Council could continue with its lawsuit against the state Department of Real Estate if it wished.

The city sued that agency because it is the one that issues the final papers that will permit conversion of the units to a stock co-operative (the equivalent of condominiums).

Representatives from the State Department of Real Estate made it clear at a hearing on the request for a preliminary injunction that the agency is a disinterested third party in the matter.

be operable and there'll be no severe maintenance problems soon after the turnover," he went on.

The tenants association, which now is considering a changeover to a homeowners association, sent out a questionnaire in August, asking residents to list their concerns about the complex. Weinstein said that most of the 248 replies listed parking as the major worry, with maintenance of the grounds next.

In August, 73 percent also said they couldn't afford to buy their units, but Weinstein said that since then he thinks they may have had time to reconsider and perhaps arrange some financing.

That's another sticky point, he noted, since many financial institutions either have stopped lending money for mortgages or raised their interest rates tremendously. "We want some guarantee on financing, too," Weinstein said, as well as a spelled-out relocation plan for those moving.

Kuhn in his letter said that the firm is "continuing to work closely with various major lending institutions in obtaining prearranged permanent financing. Indications are quite positive regarding obtaining commitments for the types of financing outlined in our August letter. We are also ready to commit to the provisions of the relocation program, including the rent freezes and financial assistance."

So far, the owner has offered a two-month rent allowance to find other housing, but just what form any relocation assistance would take hasn't been specified, Weinstein said.

Another concern has been the security system on the grounds, with a guard shack manned by security personnel, but which is "grossly inadequate," he continued.

These concerns are to be addressed again in a tenants association membership meeting to be announced soon, Weinstein said.

Family planning classes are offered

Fertility awareness is one aspect of natural family planning that is currently enjoying an increase in popularity among today's couples as they consider methods of avoiding — or achieving — pregnancy.

This trend has resulted in a number of quick courses and even over-the-counter kits on the subject.

Yet Molly Woerner, natural family planning instructor at Mary's Help Hospital, Daly City, cautions that these approaches don't really provide adequate information and could cause confusion and discouragement for couples.

"Natural family planning involves a great deal of initial instruction and support to help a woman become totally aware of her fertility," Mrs. Woerner said. "The reproduction process isn't simplistic and so doesn't lend itself easily to quick courses or information kits."

Mrs. Woerner teaches an in depth natural family planning course at Mary's Help Hospital which is based on the reliable Billings Ovulation Method. The next class — an introduction to the course — will be Nov. 7 at 7:30 p.m. in the hospital's auditorium.

A $28 course fee includes course materials and the couple's attendance to the introductory class and eight personal follow-up sessions.

Course participants are encouraged to attend as couples, since natural family planning is a shared method which places the responsibility for its use equally upon the man and woman.

Women may attend individually if they wish, although the fee remains the same.

The ovulation method of natural family planning was developed by Australian Drs. John and Lyn Billings, a husband-wife physician team.

It is based upon the fact that whenever a woman is fertile, she has a characteristic cervical mucus discharge which she can learn to observe and interpret. The couple then abstains from sexual relations during the few days she is fertile, or has relations if they are trying to conceive.

According to Mrs. Woerner, the Billings Ovulation Method has many advantages.

"In addition to being medically safe and reliable, the method is inexpensive to learn and practice. The ovulation method is also totally natural and in harmony with the fertility process," Mrs. Woerner said.

This last point is an important contrast to the over-the-counter kit (and some other courses) which are not "natural" because they advocate the use of a barrier during the fertile time. The efficiency rate of this fertility method then depends upon the failure rate of the barrier used.

"It's ridiculous to use these kits to try and pinpoint the woman's fertile time," Mrs. Woerner said. "Even if the woman is lucky enough to succeed without instruction, the couple certainly shouldn't use the information to resort to the most failure-prone contraceptives — condoms and foams — during the most fertile time."

An important feature of the Billings Ovulation Method of natural family planning is that once learned, it can be used at any stage of the woman's reproductive life, such as during short or long menstrual cycles, breast feeding, or even in the premenopause stage.

The method isn't dependent upon previous cycle patterns or calculations.

What it does depend upon is an understanding and reaction to three components which must be present before pregnancy can occur — sperm, a fertile egg and cervical mucus. Without the presence of all three together, conception cannot occur no matter what time of the month the calendar indicates it "should be" for the woman's cycle.

"The woman is taught how to identify the presence of mucus and how to chart her fertility status daily," said Mrs. Woerner. "During the few peak days of fertility the couple decides either to have sexual relations to achieve or abstains to avoid conception."

The reliability of the method is therefore based upon the decision of the couple regarding sexual intimacy during fertility times, not upon the reliability of any contraceptive. Many couples making this mutual choice find that it helps them grow into other avenues of expressing love and respect.

Mary's Help Hospital's natural family planning program is one of the most intense courses being offered in the area. Mrs. Woerner is currently also completing the instructor certification program sponsored by the Creighton University School of Medicine's Natural Family Planning Education and Research Center, which makes her privy to the latest developments in the field.

For details, call Mrs. Woerner, 992-4000 or 991-6600.

HALLOWEEN OBSTACLE COURSE

It was spooks and goblins that students at Bayshore School, Daly City, had to maneuver through on Halloween as part of an obstacle course set up by Carol Benton, physical education specialist. The students had to get through the spider's web, ghost tunnel, witches sleeping in beds, the graveyard, the bottomless pit, the petrified forest, the bat cave, the swamp, the pumpkin patch, the witches' parking lot for brooms only and the witches' hat lane.

Girl Scouting

Girl Scout calendar sales continue with both the full size message space, full color model and the new small pocket planner available from Daly City-Colma area Brownie, Junior, Cadette and Senior Girl Scouts at $1.50 each.

Product Sales Chairman Mrs. Dorothy Carter, 615 Foothill Blvd., Pacifica, (993-5172) reminds local residents that all profits from the sale of the calendar go directly to each troop and to support direct services provided by the local Council.

Nov. 10 will see the first annual Arts and Crafts Workshop for troops, to be at Broadmoor Presbyterian Church with pre-registration through Mmes. Virginia Nowicki (756-3532) or Carole Ann Scott (755-1090).

Scope will include art for Brownies, handcrafts, printmaking and badge workshops.

Troops should begin planning now for the Girl Scout Sunday craft faire in the spring. Mrs. Nowicki suggests that "this workshop and training sampler would be an excellent way to begin."

The November Daly City-Colma Area Girl Scout Association meeting is Nov. 20 at 7:30 p.m. to 9 p.m. at Hope Lutheran Church, according to Association Chairman Mrs. Mary Ann Dale.

Service team members can attend and each troop should plan on sending either its troop leader or a member of its troop committe

The Regent

By ROBIN MOELLER
Commissioner of Publicity
Serramonte High School

As of Oct. 31, 67 percent of the students in the Jefferson Union High School District were attending classes and 54 percent of the district's regular teachers were back in the classrooms.

Homecoming is coming up, so don't forget to get tickets early.

Let's break last year's attendance record. Tickets are being sold at the cashier's office during lunch and are $2 with a Student Body Card and $2.50 without.

Tickets sold at the door will cost $3.

Orders for corsages to be distributed during the Homecoming Dance now are being taken during lunch in the Cashier's Office for $1.50 each.

The senior class is selling carnations for Homecoming Day. They will be delivering them to each first period class.

The carnations are on sale at lunch everyday until Nov. 7. Prices are 35 cents each or three dozen for $1.

Last Tuesday was the last day for October's class of the month competition. The winning class is given 50 points.

If your class didn't win this month, don't forget there are eight months left, so start now and show your spirit!

Yearbooks were sold from Oct. 29 to Nov. 2. The 1980 yearbooks cost $10 with a Student Body Card and $12 without. If you wanted your name printed on the cover, it would cost an extra $1.

There was a CSF (California Scholarship Federation) meeting scheduled Nov. 1 in room 202 at noon. If you can not attend any CSF meeting and wish to be a member, contact Mr. Shurgin.

Soccer practice has started. Hopefully other sports teams will be started up also.

Girls tennis and girls volleyball, both fall sports, already have been bypassed, because of the strike.

Executive Board members had their pictures taken for the yearbook in room 221 last week. So, if you are a member of the Executive Board and haven't had your picture taken you should see someone on the yearbook staff.

Booklets entitled "A Guide to the Scholastic Aptitude Test" may be picked up at the library counter.

Spirit Week is here! If you didn't dress up yesterday for 1950s Day, make sure to gather up some spirit and dress up today for Hat and T-Shirt Day and tomorrow for Kids Day. Friday is Spirit Day.

Don't miss the Homecoming game Nov. 9. The Executive Board will hold the concession and will be selling chips and drinks and hot dogs or chilli.

The usual Student of the Month awards will probably not be given out until the strike is over.

The journalism class, however, wants to give out awards for outstanding students at Serramonte.

The sophomores and juniors are planning to hold a dance Dec. 14 from 8 o'clock to 11. They are planning on having a concession at the dance and selling food and refreshments.

There was a Halloween rally on Oct. 31.

COMPLETES COURSE

Pvt. James L. Webster, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nandor Bellisch, 401 Hillside Blvd., Daly City, recently completed a wheeled-vehicle mechanic course at the U.S. Army Training Center, Fort Dix, N.J.

During the course, students were trained to perform maintenance and assist in the repair of automotive vehicles and associated equipment.

They became familiar with the functioning of automotive wheeled-vehicle components, operating principles of internal combustion engines, fundamentals of fuel and electrical systems, and the use of organizational and test equipment.

Thanksgiving . . . and what is there left to say about it?

Words from an old Scottish grace keep insinuating themselves into my thoughts. As I remember, it ends' "But we ha' meat, and we can eat, and so that Lord be thankit."

Diet we must, but eat we can — and that includes Thanksgiving feasts and holiday feting. It takes skill to circumnavigate the month upcoming because of the diet shoals. However, it can be done.

First of all, Thanksgiving.

It's the Dieter's holiday because the main course is turkey, and breast of turkey is the finest of diet proteins. That's something I'll bet never entered the pilgrim's minds!

Turkey dressing? Yes! Made with a minimum of bread and a maximum of celery, green pepper and herbs. No potatoes — sweet or otherwise, but a helping of butternut squash based with diet maple syrup — "yam" a good substitute.

Squanto may not have had squash relish in mind when he introduced the paleface to his noble native vegetables, but adding it to your holiday menu will add Vitamin A and Vitamin C to the delicious taste of the relish.

Try this:

AUDRA'S SQUASH RELISH

3 cups yellow squash
1 cup red and green bell peppers
1 cup onions
1½ tbsp. salt
15 pkts. sugar substitute (or to taste)

Coarse grind squash, bell peppers and onions. Add salt. Let stand overnight. Wash in cold water and drain. Add sugar substitute. Stir until dissolved. Add cooked vinegar mixture. Place in Teflon pan. Heat until hot (do not boil). Pack in hot jars and seal.

VINEGAR MIXTURE

1½ cup vinegar
½ tsp. pickling spice
¼ tsp. celery seed

Boil vinegar, pickling spice and celery seed for 5 minutes. Strain before adding to squash.

With the first big feast day history, survive the season on these simple tips:

• Ignore alcohol by having tomato juice or orange juice at cocktail parties — let your personality sparkle naturally.

• Keep your diet in mind, not in mouth. Don't talk it at the table, eat it by avoiding foods you would not eat at home.

• Omit hors d'oeurves, except for vegetable nibbles.

• Accept seconds on salads and unlimited vegetables — nothing else.

• Impress on your hostess that her meal was so excellent you couldn't possibly find room for even one smidge of dessert.

In other words, concentrate on the conviviality, think of everyone but yourself, and enjoy the holidays, diet-style. "And so the Lord be thankit."

Fuel-saving plan demonstration set

A nation-wide program that dramatically demonstrates how the average motorist can save significant amounts of fuel through improved driving and car care techniques will be brought to Daly City, Nov. 8 by Atlantic Richfield Company.

"The Drive for Conservation" will set up a three-day demonstration near the east side of Macy's at Serramonte Shopping Center.

The exhibit is free and will be open from noon to 5 p.m. through Nov. 10.

Hourly demonstrations on a specially equipped car will show how fuel savings of up to 30 percent are possible by driving with conservation in mind, applying a few basic principles and proper vehicle maintenance.

Since passenger cars account for about 31 percent of the petroleum used in the United States, reducing gasoline consumption by even 5 percent could save 5.5 billion gallons of gasoline per year, according to the U.S. Department of Energy.

"The Drive for Conservation" is a traveling caravan which includes exhibits designed for audience involvement. The main attraction is a test car mounted on a dynamometer which simulates road driving conditions.

A volunteer from the audience is asked to take two three-mile "drives," one incorporating poor driving patterns, the other using recommended techniques. Special monitoring equipment measures fluctuations in gasoline usage, while the audience simultaneously "reads" the miles-per-gallon impact of the driver's actions on large gauges mounted outside the car.

Another feature of the caravan is a van equipped with two television screens. One will show the basics of good car maintenance; the other will dramatize the impact of fuel conservation on the average family. The complete program runs about 30 minutes.

The driving and maintenance systems presented in this public service project were drawn largely from recent independent research by the Transportation Department of McDonnell Douglas Corporation, the Transportation Systems Division of the U.S. Department of Energy, and the Automobile Club of Southern California.

Among the gas-saving tips offered by the program are:

• Accelerate smoothly to cruising speed as soon as traffic conditions allow, and maintain this speed as long as possible.

• Avoid tailgating. Besides being unsafe, it leads to unnecessary braking, which greatly reduces mileage.

• Minimize road resistance by keeping tires properly inflated.

• Minimize wind resistance by closing windows at speeds of more than 40 mph.

• Reduce the number of short trips because mileage suffers greatly on trips of 10 miles or less.

• Avoid unnecessary lane changing because the straightest possible course provides the best mileage.

• Keep the vehicle properly tuned.

"The Drive for Conservation" project nation-wide will include four separate caravans traveling to different regions of the country. Other cities to be visited include Washington, D.C., Los Angeles, Boston, San Francisco, Seattle and Chicago.

It is one of several programs initiated by Atlantic Richfield Company over the years to promote energy conservation. Other company projects have included sponsorship of van pool and ride-sharing programs for employees and support of urban mass-transit initiatives.

Nell Norton

Good morning, good cooks.

When I look through the recipe files I find many recipes for entrees for luncheons and dinners but not as many for breakfast gatherings.

So I was delighted to receive a copy of a prize-winning recipe from the National Beef Cook-Off for a very tasty breakfast.

BREAKFAST FOR A BUNCH

2 pounds ground beef round
1 envelope (1⅜ ounces) onion soup mix
¾ cup unprocessed millers' bran flakes
½ cup yogurt
Oil
4 cups grated raw potatoes
8 or 9 eggs
1½ cups grated cheddar cheese (medium)

Brown the two pounds ground beef in large electric frying-pan at 400 degrees. Pour off drippings. Remove beef to bowl; add the package onion soup mix and fourth cup bran flakes.

Stir in the half cup yogurt until ingredients are combined.

Cover bottom of frying pan generously with oil. Spread the four cups grated potatoes in thin layer in pan and fry until golden brown. Turn potatoes, cover with layer of beef mixture and continue cooking.

About five minutes before potatoes are crisp, make eight hollows in beef mixture with back of spoon. Break an egg in each hollow. Cover frying-pan and continue cooking until eggs are done to doneness desired.

Sprinkle one and one-half cups grated cheese over top. Serve immediately.

YIELD: 8 or 9 servings.

On radio guidelines, commercial loudness

Perspective

By ARVILLE FINACOM

Every so often one of the many federal alphabet agencies makes headlines.

The Federal Communications Commission is no exception. Most recently two items received wide notice. First was a vote by FCC commissioners to abolish guidelines for programming and commercials on the 8000 plus licensed radio stations in the United States, in effect letting stations be governed solely by popular local demand. Second was a request from the FCC for input concerning "objectionable loudness of TV and radio commercials."

Because of its interest in anything pertaining to electronic media, Reviewing Stand/North, the Bay Area based, inter-district mass media committee of the California State PTA, invited Philip Kane, assistant engineer-in-charge of the FCC San Francisco District Office, to speak at a recent regional meeting.

Kane prefaced his comments with a remark about his pleasure in being able to talk about the FCC, "an agency much misunderstood by its 'owners'."

As background, Kane traced the beginning of the government service to an international treaty signed in 1912 assigning signatory countries responsibility for the use of radio in their own countries and allowing for equitable division of responsibility insofar as ships at sea were concerned.

Today 153 countries are involved in the International Telecommunications Commission administered by the United Nations which is responsible for regulation of all private and commercial non-government radio and TV communications in the world.

According to Kane, our federal government did not get into sizeable regulation until rapid proliferation of radio stations in the 1920s led to several stations, sometimes as many as four or five, fighting for audio-control of a single radio frequency.

Soon the fledgling radio entertainment industry as well as various business leaders who realized early the powerful advertising potential of the medium, began to cry, "Government, help us!"

In 1934 Congress approved creation of the FCC under terms of the Federal Communications Act which specified appointment by the president of a chairman and six other commissioners with "no more than four from the same political party" for terms of seven years each.

All other FCC employees come under Civil Service requirements.

Within the FCC several bureaus exist.

The "Broadcast Bureau" licenses commercial radio and TV stations "whose programming is directed towards public consumption." The "Common Carrier Bureau" deals with groups operating private radio for profit such as radio telephone utilities. The "Private Radio Bureau" has responsibility for licensing over 35 million radio operators for all two-way radio — in aircraft, on boats, CB as well as amateur short wave.

"The Cable TV Bureau" has shuffled in and out of the FCC since 1965. Currently it is "in," in a limited fashion. FCC has control over the technical characteristics of cable only, none over consumer fees nor licensing of broadcasters.

Actually, the approach towards cable is more in line with the accepted function of the FCC "to provide for the orderly and proper use of the radio spectrum, which, by strict interpretation, becomes almost exclusively an engineering responsibility.

Local offices of the FCC — there are some 30 in the United States — are styled "Field Engineering Bureaus" and are concerned with measurement and enforcement of FCC rules and regulations.

Kane expressed concern about the great deal of misunderstanding of the FCC's regulatory power.

Actually, control lies with the public served in that FCC proposed rules must be offered for lengthy public comment and amendment before final commission review and encoding. Also, when a condition arises that the commission feels is worthy of investigation, a notice of inquiry must be submitted to the public. The Federal Register is used to give such notice. Congress is asked to alert constituents.

Recently Congressman Bill Royer notified local residents of the "objectionable loudness of TV and radio commercials" inquiry.

Copies of the request as listed in the Federal Register are available from Royer's office (phone 549-1978).

Substance of the inquiry is simple: If you believe commercials are objectionably loud, send specifics (date, time, station, product) directly to the FCC, Washington, D.C. 20554. Deadline for these comments is Dec. 15.

In his remarks, Kane stressed that the FCC is not a censor. Letters to the agency should be concerned with technical matters rather than those of taste.

Kane also explained "equal time," the "fairness doctrine" and discussed various ideas being researched currently by electronic media industries on the effects of increasing public participation in broadcasting

One proposal would do away with the 25 "clear channel priority" stations in the United States. Another would split radio frequencies among broadcasters, creating the need for even finer tuning.

Kane is involved currently in local midnight-to-6 a.m. airwaves monitoring to determine feasibility of this proposal. A third approach would expand the radio band, perhaps into some of the lower short wave frequencies. This last already comes under fire from various countries whose militari radio channels lie close to the audible band.

When questioned about specific local activities of the FCC, Kane reiterated that the Field Engineering Bureaus are concerned primarily with enforcement which means for the most part technical measurements to detect unlicensed or "boosted" broadcasting which interferes with legitimate operations.

Since criminal penalties exist for deliberate misuse and abuse of the public airwaves, the FCC is empowered to issue "cease and desist" orders to illegal broadcasters as well as request "search and seizure" by the U.S. Attorney's Office if compliance is delayed.

The FCC/FEB also operates a "public contact" division. Locally some 8,000 complaints annually are handled by the 15 employees of the S.F. office which has jurisdiction over Northern California, Nevada and Utah. Since many of these deal with easily remedied electronic interference with home entertainment units, the FCC publishes "How to Identify and Handle Radio and TV Interference."

Write FCC, 555 Battery St., San Francisco, 94111 and request the "Interference Handbook." If the handbook can't provide the answer, a public contact officer will personally assess the situation and attempt to discover the cause.

Light reading is interesting

Samuel Chandler

"Something went Tick."

"He heard it quite distinctly — a metallic sound. There it went again: Tick."

"He opened his eyes and was rewarded with darkness, an absolute lack of radiant energy . . . or of receptors to detect energy."

"Am I blind?"

"He could not place the source, but it was out there — wherever out there was. The air was cold in his throat and lungs. . . ."

From "The Jesus Incident"

Inflation, recession, the oil crisis, the energy crunch, strikes at home and strife abroad; leave it all for an hour or two and read a good story, a science fiction novel or a murder mystery.

There are many around to chill your blood and make you forget the Arabs and Middle East and the Russians and their bombs.

"The Jesus Incident" by Frank Herbert and Bill Ransom (Berkley, $10.95) is high adventure and unforgetable drama in a far future universe where rogues with supernatural powers live in an atmosphere of human conflict and of classic dimensions.

Or try "Sometimes a Hero" (Doubleday, $12.50). Let Les Whitten, long-time associate of columnist Jack Anderson, take you into the world of big oil and the super rich and the super powerful.

You will smell the cherry blossoms of Washington, D.C., and go away from them into Congressional hearings where hard men who have risen from the streets argue for concessions that will permit them to move on to the international scene.

"Sometimes a Hero" pits a man against a corporation that he cannot break and gives him a love that he cannot understand. It tests his courage and marks his pathways with blood and intrigue before it leaves him "with a winged feeling of sweetness."

Flautist to perform

Flautist Jehudit R. Herman will be guest soloist with the California Youth Symphony as the orchestra opens its 28th season at the San Mateo Performing Arts Center, 650 Delaware Ave., Nov. 18 at 2:30 p.m.

Ms. Herman, 18, is a 1978 CYS audition awards winner. She has been studying both flute and piccolo during the past eight years with Richard Kastel, Rebecca Friedman, Lloyd Gowen and Paul Renzel.

The flautist is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Herman of Millbrae. She inherits her musical interests from her father, who plays clarinet and reeds with San Francisco jazz orchestras.

The young instrumentalist is continuing her studies at San Francisco State University as a music performance major.

She is recipient of the D. Sterling Wheelwright scholarship plus the Burlingame Music Club and Millbrae Lions Club awards.

Ms. Herman also is a music tutor and performs for civic and religious group programs.

The guest artist will play Flute Concerto in D. Major No. 2 by Mozart in concert with the CYS orchestra members.

The California Youth Symphony instrumentalists directed by Dr. Lauren Jakey will be heard in "Les Preludes" by Liszt, "Magic Flute" by Mozart, Romanzes in C, Opus 2 by Sibelius and Symphony No. 2 by Giannini.

The California Youth Symphony, numbering 90 instrumentalists, 12-18 in age, represents communities throughout the San Francisco Bay Peninsula and East Bay.

Founded in 1952 by Aaron Sten, the orchestra is the longest enduring youth symphony in the United States and has received recognition for high level musicianship achieved by the members both at home and abroad.

The CYS has presented invitational concert tours in Japan, Mexico, Australia, Switzerland and Czechoslavakia. Guest appearances at home include performing in concert with Jack Benny, Duke Ellington, soprano Mary Costa and jazz guitarist George Benso

Special recruit company

The Navy's first Special Recruit company formed of young men from Northern California, The Golden Gate Company, graduated from Basic Training recently in ceremonies at the Recruit Training Center, San Diego.

The company, which has two North County residents in it, was sworn into the Navy on Sept. 1, 1979, on the infield of Candlestick Park before the start of a San Francisco Giants doubleheader. The night before they were guests at a banquet held in their honor by civi organizations.

The 75 men of the Golden Gate Company now will go on to advanced training in fields such as electronics, data processing and mechanics before going to their first job.

During their weeks in "Boot Camp" the Golden Gate Company learned about Navy life and history, Military courtesy, physical fitness and the basic skills needed to be a good sailor such as first aid and firefighting. The company excelled in many areas while in completion with other recruit companies.

The members of the Golden Gate company, like all Navy recruits, are earning full pay while being trained and are entitled to all Navy benefits.

North County residents are Kenneth R. Bates, a photographer's mate from Daly City, and Robert A. Sattui, a seaman apprenticeship from South San Francisco.

New telephone system

This month Mary's Help Hospital has installed a new, technologically advanced telephone system throughout the entire hospital.

Called Dimension 2000, it is the Bell System's latest, most advanced communications system available for business customers.

The hospital's telephone number remains 992-4000 although individual department extensions have changed. Mary's Help Hospital's operator will be able to assist the public when they call the hospital with any difficulties they might have.

Flag football action

Exciting action characterized the Daly City Flag Football League as it moved into its second week.

In the sixth grade, Panorama topped Bayshore 15-6. Nat Carter, Rich Columbo and Arthur Earl led Panorama to victory.

In a defensive battle between two eighth grade teams, Gellert Park edged Bayshore 8-0 on a touchdown pass from Mark Jackson to Al Carriar.

In another contest, high powered Roosevelt gunned Washington 25-18. Sean Lewis and John Thomas led Roosevelt, while T. Ephasa and Craven Garrett starred for Washington

THE PENTAGON

So large is the Pentagon in Wshington, D.C., that its total floor area could fill a square whose sides were half a mile wide. Yet, so ingenious is its design that no two offices are more than 1,800 feet — about a six-minute walk — away from each other.

Cesarean birth instruction offered

It's a method of giving birth that has caused unwarranted worries for many pregnant women in the past.

Yet no fear need be associated with this birth method, nor do expectant couples have to consider cesarean birth a mystery.

And most of all, a mother does not have to feel less of a woman for having her child by cesarean section.

Mary's Help Hospital childbirth education instructors Mary Steinhauer and Anne Garrett are devoted to making expectant couples aware of cesarean birth realities.

Mrs. Steinhauer and Mrs. Garrett will teach a cesarean birth class Nov. 10 from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the hospital.

Couples who are interested in more information about cesarean births as well as couples who are planning for a repeat cesarean birth are invited to attend the class.

Couples who register for the class receive a pamphlet with articles covering many facets of cesarean labor delivery. Participants are also given fact sheets and a recommended reading list on a wide range of topics.

Mrs. Steinhauer and Mrs. Garrett discuss medication and anesthesia, including what the woman will experience when she receives each particular medication.

Exercises which help promote easier births are also demonstrated.

"What we really want to convey is that cesarean births are safe and that the negative stereotypes identified with this type of delivery are invalid," states Mrs. Steinhauer.

"The goal in all cases, whether it be vaginal delivery or cesarean, is a healthy baby and mother," she continued.

The husband's role in the pregnancy, labor and delivery, and postpartum care varies with each couple. But the childbirth education instructors maintain that the husband's role shoeld be instrumental. Fathers oftentimes have the option to be in the labor room with the mother.

"At Mary's Help, the husband can be present if he has the consent of the obstetrician and the anesthesiologist, and provided the woman has taken a regional anesthesia.

Instruction on postpartum care of the mother, immediate care of the newborn and preparation for breast-feeding are also covered in the class.

A $17 fee is charged for the class. March of Dimes scholarships are available for couples unable to afford the fee. Pre-registration is required. Further information may be obtained by contacting the obstetrics department at Mary's Help Hospital, telephone 992-4000, ext. 2310.

When a dog overheats . . .

DR. DAVID R. BARNETT

Question: Doesn't a dog know enough not to get overheated on a hot day? Our Boxer never knows when to stop. He'll keep moving as long as you play with him — and even when you don't. He pants so hard you'd think that his tongue was going to fall out. Is this bad for him?

C. L.

Answer: Some dogs are hyperactive and really don't know when to slow down. That description also fits some people, doesn't it? Most dogs don't harm themselves with their activities, but it is possible that they might especially as they grow older. Try to calm your dog a little when he has been playing a lot, especially on hot days.

Question: Can you tell me what to give a cat to avoid hair balls? I know there are commercial products for this, but I would rather not use them. How about salad oil — does that help?

K. F.

Answer: Salad oil would not be very effective and might cause some other problems. I don't understand why you wouldn't want to use commercial preparations that are designed especially for this condition.

Question: What relationship is there between a skunk and a domesticated cat? The girl in the office next door brought her cat to work one weekend and left it there Sunday night with a box of cat litter. When we came to work Monday morning the odor was so powerful two of our workers went home. I might mention that I got the information second-hand — I never saw the cat. Do you think she could have had a skunk in the office?

J. C.

Answer: She may have had a skunk in the office, but I doubt it. Cats drink water infrequently and urinate infrequently, but when they do urinate the urine is very concentrated and consequently has a very strong odor. Tomcats have a behavioral trait of labeling territory or property by spraying selected articles in an area with urine. But as objectionable as it may seem, the odor of cats cannot begin to compare with the potency of the skunk's.

BRIGHT LIGHTS BY LLOYD JOHNSON ★

Holiday fun at Finocchio's

CARROLL WALLACE, master of ceremonies at FINOCCHIO'S for many years, expertly guides the exciting shows of this world famed nightspot in San Francisco. In his inimitable style, Carroll introduces each act, prompting the most out of his audience, and sings catchy old songs. The EVE-ETTES, Finocchio's chorus line, opens and closes the four shows nightly, except Mondays ... LEHR'S GREENHOUSE in San Francisco rivals Fisherman's Wharf as a mecca for seafood lovers. Fresh fish is featured at luncheon and dinner; it might be perch, red snapper, petrale sole, salmon — whatever is in season ... How many times have you wondered what to give someone as an out-of-the-ordinary gift? Well, at the entrance at NICK'S restaurant in Rockaway Beach, Pacifica, there's a sample "Gift Certificate" which you can purchase to give family and friends. It's good for any of the three restaurants in the GUST family's dining complex, which includes THE MOONRAKER and CAPTAIN CHARLES ... Antiques and artifacts add charm to the comfortable dining room and cocktail lounge at SCOTTY CAMPBELL'S, and Owner JIM SNIADECKI'S courteous reception of your party is a fair index to your dining experience here.

Romano's pizza in 16 combinations

Pizzas continue to be among the most popular choices at ROMANO'S Italian restaurant bistro in Rockaway Beach, Pacifica. There's a choice of 16 combinations, each freshly prepared with only the finest imported and domestic ingredients and in three sizes (small, medium, and large). Also available for take-out ... Live music and dancing are popular attractions in the cocktail lounge on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday nights from 8 p.m. at the "new" CYPRESS HOUSE in Half Moon Bay. This venerable old weatherworn landmark with its unique decor has taken on a new life under the creative efforts of new owner HAEKUN CHOI ... One of the most popular gourmet steak dishes at PHIL LEHR'S Pay-By-Ounce STEAKERY, on the lower level of the S.F. Hilton Tower, is PHIL'S incredibly delicious Cling Peach Beet Wellington ... The subtle elegance of DAL BAFFO European restaurant in Menlo Park bespeaks the gourmet level of cuisine as prepared with old-world care by owner chef VINCENZO LO GRASSO ... Along with the delectable Japanese menu choices, ROSE and TED OSAKI are now offering a different Oriental luncheon special each day, Tuesday through Friday, at their ever-popular KOHARU JAPANESE CUISINE on Fourth Avenue, San Mateo.

Boar's Head, Hungry Hunter dish it out

They "really dish it out" at the BOAR'S HEAD and the HUNGRY HUNTER. Add some spice to dining out and enjoy their "Early Bird Special" for $5.65 on certain nights from 5 to 7 p.m. Entrees (marinated chicken or prime rib) are served complete with soup, salad, bread, and a choice of baked potato, rice or French fries ... The new "Senior Dinner Special" at ALFREDO'S Italian and American restaurant in downtown San Mateo made such a big hit that it is being continued. Served from 5 to 10 p.m. Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, this Spaghetti Platter and all-you-can-eat Salad Bar special for only $3.29 is for anyone over 60. Alfredo's regular Senior Discount Cards (10 per cent off) are also honored on this special ... Have you "discovered" the cozy party and banquet room upstairs at LES JON'S restaurant and bistro? Groups from 15 to 50 can celebrate in privacy and enjoy the full family-style old-time Basque dinners prepared by famed Chef ARNAUD. Guests are close enough to the bar bistro below to join the congenial crowd around the pianobar, where keyboard stylist BOB CELLUTI makes mood music nightly.

Butler back at Ray Plunkett's

JIMMY BUTLER, popular maitre d' in the gourmet dining room of RAY PLUNKETT'S TAHOE MARINER hotel/casino in North Lake Tahoe, is back at his post after a brief vacation with his family in Ireland ... BILL COSBY'S hilarious routines, which cover everything from dentists to natural childbirth, and the romantic songs of JACK JONES continue to entertain audiences in the South Shore Room of HARRAH'S TAHOE through Nov. 8. Showtimes twice nightly, with musical backing by the BRIAN FARNON ORCHESTRA ... Make a date to dance disco to the Big Band and 70's sound in the BRASS ELEPHANT LOUNGE of the GROSVENOR AIRPORT INN, South San Francisco. The dance action, Tuesday through Saturday nights, starts at 8:30 p.m. ... Not only is there a wide choice of delicious food on the lunch and dinner menus at VINCE'S Italian and Seafood restaurant, but there is also a choice of service. In addition to dining areas with booths and tables, plus an informal cocktail lounge, there's a counter for quick and convenient service ... BILL MONRO, managing partner of ROSEBUD'S ENGLISH PUB, and his vivacious wife, BARBARA, are back in San Francisco after attending a restaurant convention in Las Vegas ... A tasty specialty to try at LA PINATA Mexican restaurant in downtown Burlingame is Gorditas ... DENNY YUNE, chef co-owner of the HANA JAPAN Japanese Steak House in San Mateo, does dazzling things with flashing knives and mixed ingredients at the tabletop hibachi griddle ... The Wednesday "Family Night" all-you-can-eat family-style dinners for $4.29 at TILLIE'S 'LIL' FRANKFURT German and continental restaurant in Moss Beach are big attractions the year 'round. Closed only on Tuesdays.

Error-prone Regents Win

By MIKE FICHER
Times Correspondent

This has been an unusual season for Serramonte High's football team. No matter how many mistakes the defending North Peninsula League champions make, somehow, some way, the Regents find a path to victory — and first place in the wild NPL race.

Friday's 8-0 win over visiting El Camino was no exception. The Regents made mistakes — six turnovers — but converted one of the miscues into the game-winning points on a bizarre interception safety at the end of the third quarter.

Faced with a fourth down and long, quarterback Robert Williams faded back and arched a deep pass to flanker Eric Jones. Unfortunately, the aerial was intercepted by EC safety Jim Noonan, who in a moment of confusion attempted to run out of the end zone but was tackled by the alert Jones.

"I intercepted it on the five, and my momentum took me in. Therefore at least I thought you had to take it out if you catch it on the five," Noonan explained. "I tried to take it out, but I blew it.

"There was a receiver close, and I didn't know where he was, so I just caught it. I didn't know where he was, so I didn't bat it down."

Jones was right behind the fleeing Noonan, and his alert play changed the game's entire complexion.

"When I saw him run, I thought he was gonna try to get it back to their end zone. So I just tried to tackle him," Jones said. "He should have downed it. I guess I was fast enough to get him. I knew that it could have been our two points."

"It was sad for him (Noonan) and good for us," Regent Coach Ken Cook said. "I knew the kid made a mistake. I was happy for the points. Eric was right on him, and that makes a difference."

El Camino Coach Lonnie Beckenhauer noted that the play made a big difference in the way the Colts played the fourth quarter.

"I'm certain if that safety had never happened, it would have been a quite different ball game."

Indeed, up until that point the two clubs were locked in a tight defensive struggle, although EC had scoring chances, thanks to five interceptions (three by cornerback Dave Phelps).

"We had some opportunities early in the first quarter," Beckenhauer said. "We couldn't put anything on the board. You can't do that and win games.

"Mainly they were playing good defense. The things they were doing up front, stunting and such, were affecting our blocking. We just had some problems with it."

Serramonte limited EC to 72 yards on offense, time and again shutting down the Colts in Regent territory after a turnover.

"Our defense did an excellent job. Manu Tuimvave did an excellent job at nose guard," Cook said. "We just had a lackluster performance on offense. Our kids were flat, and I don't know why."

Wide receiver Joe Nobles, who caught two passes and played top-notch defense, offered an explanation.

"We were a little bit overconfident. We figured we'd try to get a lot of points. I guess we just overlooked them, tried to run up the score too fast instead of trying to move the ball."

Jones concurred. "I think we played a poor game. We played one quarter. We just fell apart. In practice we looked good, all together, we were on a beat. We came here, I don't know, we had it together, but I guess our hearts just weren't in it."

But by some means the Regents keep winning, sporting a 4-1 log and first place, thanks to South City's 34-6 thrashing of Jefferson.

SSF knocks Jeff from lead

The tone of Friday's North Peninsula League football game between South San Francisco and Jefferson high schools was set early.

The first time Carl Montgomery, South City's explosive 6-2 senior fullback, carried the football, he was nailed by the Indians for a four-yard loss.

But, no, that was not the play that set the tone.

IT WAS THE following play. Warrior quarterback Tommy Esqueda faded back to pass and hit Byron Hector with deflected 39-yard touchdown pass, giving South City an abrupt 7-0 lead (with Ken Gates' PAT kick) over Jeff. And the Warriors rolled on from there, clobbering favored Jeff 34-6 at Clifford Field to knock the Indians out of a first-place tie with Serramonte.

South City had an overall record of 1-6 before Friday, but the Warriors were so fired-up for their game against the Indians, you'd have thought they were 6-1.

"I think a lot of the mistakes they were making earlier this season developed because the kids wanted so badly to win for their new coach (first-year head coach Mike Tenerowicz)," noted one veteran prep observer. "In this game, they were fired-up, they got ahead early and they kind of put it all together."

MONTGOMERY enjoyed a sensational afternoon, carrying the ball 30 times for 203 yards. The Warriors' speedster scored on a pair of two-yard runs.

Jeff finished with 118 yards in total offense — but the Indians weren't even that successful on offense, in that 32 of those yards came on a pass on the game's final play.

Makeshift Ram team shines

By JAY LEWENSTEIN
Times Correspondent

Westmoor High football coach Pete Matisi didn't know what to expect in Friday's North Peninsula League clash with visiting Oceana.

His star quarterback had been sidelined all week with a flu bug and a 104-degree fever. He had a makeshift offensive backfield, and an injury-riddled defense.

However, Matisi needn't have worried. His club made adjustments with ease en route to a 46-17 win.

"At this point in the season, it's really difficult to think about changing things. I have a great group of players here that just knows what it takes to win. I can depend on these guys to play hard from start to finish, and that's what counts."

Give Marino Pieretti a chance to smell roses

Marino Pieretti stories have often graced this space, but the one story I never told here was of Marino's health problems over the past couple of years. The reason, frankly, was that it was too sad for me to write about.

But in May of this year I finally realized that Marino's illness and the way he was fighting it was not sad but inspirational, and by the time I had finished writing the piece it was much too lengthy for this column, so I published it in one of the San Francisco Sunday magazine supplements.

Following are some relatively short excerpts from that long article. The point of reprinting them will soon become clear.

"Marino Pieretti is feted monthly by old ball players . . . In Pieretti they sense a greatness which can't be translated in terms of games won and lost, but which will surely gain him entry to the Hall of Fame the day they add a wing for courage.

"An Alexandre Dumas fan would appreciate Pieretti's credentials. Recall the trials of the young D'Artagnan, who had to prove his mettle by challenging the Three Musketeers and meeting them all separately on the same day. Pieretti, too, is challenging a formidable trio — The Big Three, he calls them: heart disease, diabetes and cancer. He's dueling them all at once . . .

"This is the same man who, coming out of surgery (in September 1978) . . . was told by his doctor that he had maybe a week to live . . .

"One day Frank Strazzullo (a Daly City caterer and long-time friend of Pieretti's) was talking to Dante Benedetti, the North Beach restaurateur and USF baseball coach whose semi-pro team Pieretti had managed until he was felled by a heart attack . . . Strazzullo told Benedetti they had to get Marino out of the house, into society. Maybe they should have lunch together . . .

"Marino . . . got through it . . . (and) Strazzullo suggested they do it again the next month, and Pieretti . . . said, 'I'll be ready'."

Well, Pieretti is ready for every luncheon, which has now become a monthly tradition usually attended by about 50 people, all there to honor Pieretti. The gathering has become what Marino calls "my medicine."

At the last meeting, Dino Restelli, another North Beach lad who once played center field for the Seals and briefly matched Ralph Kiner homerun-for-homerun in a short stay with Pittsburgh, came up with an idea for a new dose of medicine for Pieretti.

Restelli thinks that a baseball diamond in San Francisco should be named for Pieretti. There wasn't a man in the house who disagreed.

Strazzullo thinks that the perfectly logical diamond would be the small one in Crocker Amazon Playground on which Pieretti has conducted a weekly free baseball clinic for kids for years, now, in good health and bad.

The only catch is that the San Francisco Park and Recreation Commission has a notion that no parks or diamonds should be named for persons still living.

Restelli says he wants Pieretti to "smell the roses," and besides, notes Strazzullo, "We'll all be dead before Pieretti, and then we won't be able to smell the roses."

So, frankly, this is a plea to all Pieretti friends and admirers out there. Tell everybody you can about Pieretti Field. If you know anybody who has anything to do with the San Francisco Park and Recreation Commission, tell them about it. Write letters. If you see the petition for Pieretti Field that is now circulating, sign it. Tell your friends to sign it.

If you have any ideas about how such a "rule" can be circumvented, or wish to lend your support in any way, call Strazzullo (589-4413 or 756-3198) or Restelli (593-1573) and give them your input.

Give Marino Pieretti a chance to smell the roses, pick them, and wear one in his lapel for every day of what will hopefully be a long and productive life as a living monument to what pure love for a game can do to uplift human beings.

Sidebar to the Pieretti story:

When Pieretti was seemingly at his lowest, his doctors predicting that he would never see Christmas of 1978, Strazzullo-Benedetti and Co. threw a huge benefit banquet for him in North Beach.

Knowing that Pieretti's pride would never allow money to be collected in his name, Strazzullo went to Al Erle, a legendary octogenarian who for half a century booked semi-pro baseball in San Francisco, and asked Erle if he would mind "fronting" for Pieretti, being the official guest of honor.

Erle, in robust good health, happily agreed. He was at the banquet, but Pieretti was too sick to make it. Ironically, Erle died unexpectedly a few months later of cancer.

Fed government recommends against national park status for Sweeney Ridge

The federal government is recommending to Congress that Sweeney Ridge in Pacifica not be made a national park.

Secretary of the Interior Cecil Andrus, in an annual report to Congress, did not include the prominent coastal ridgeline in his list of areas which should eventually be acquired by the National Park Service.

Park planner Gary Barbano of the local park service office said Tuesday that the report noted the 1,100-acre site overlooking the Pacific Ocean did not have significant "resource value."

Twelve areas were designated as having national significance. Sweeney Ridge was one of three areas that has been under study but was not recommended for federal park status.

Andrus' recommendation can be changed by Congress, which has the final authority over which sites are purchased for inclusion in the Nation Park System.

Congressman Phil Burton, D-San Francisco, is sponsoring legislation to incorporate Sweeney Ridge into the Golden Gate National Recreation Area.

The recommendation that Sweeney Ridge not be made a national park came after months of study and a congressional sub-committee hearing in Pacifica.

At the request of the Pacifica City Council, the National Park Service began a study of whether the park should be put into public ownership or remain private property.

Three options were outlined in that report, released last June. The alternatives were to:

- Take no action, leaving the site in private ownership.
- Have the federal government assist in buying Sweeney Ridge, with a federal, state or county public agency being made responsible for the administration of the park.
- Make Sweeney Ridge part of a much larger public park which could extend from the north end of Pacifica south to Highway 92 in San Mateo.

The local director of the National Park Service made an undisclosed recommendation as to what should happen to Sweeney Ridge. After a second "policy review" in Washington, Andrus suggested to Congress that the site not be purchased as a federal park.

His report was submitted to Congress Oct. 26. When Barbano was asked about the recommendation Tuesday, it caught him by surprise. The local park service office apparently had not been notified by Washington that a recommendation regarding Sweeney Ridge had been made.

The City Council asked for the federal study after environmental groups petitioned it, saying the scenic area should be preserved. A small portion of Sweeney Ridge, the Portola Discovery Site, already is in public ownership.

West Aspen Co. owns Sweeney Ridge and has proposed to develop the site with 240 homes, 765 townhouses and 495 condominiums.

Redwood City sells school site

A surplus 10.3-acre school site off Emerald Avenue in Redwood City was sold Tuesday night for $262,500.

The purchaser, E.J. Paloti Jr. and Associates, proposes to build some houses on the site.

The purchase was ratified by the Redwood City Elementary School District Board of Education.

PROMOTED TO MAJOR

Mark F. Guiang, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Aquino, 282 Wyandotte St., Daly City, recently was promoted to Army major while serving as a personnel management officer with the Personnel Administrator, William Beaumont Army Medical Center in El Paso, Texas.

His wife, Cecy, is with him in El Paso.

STAYING ON

James Brien has announced that he will not retire as planned next year as Laguna Salada Union School District superintendent, because the district needs administrative continuity now in the face of trustee and staff changes, in addition to the need to close two schools next year. He will delay his retirement, he said, until the following year.

COMPLETES TRAINING

Navy Airman Theodore J. Roxas, son of Demetrio D. Roxas of 219 S. Maytair Drive, Daly City, has completed recruit training at the Naval Training Center, San Diego.

During the eight-week training cycle, he studied general military subjects designed to prepare him for further academic and on-the-job training in one of the Navy's 85 basic occupational fields.

Included in his studies were seamanship, close-order drill, Naval history and first aid. Personnel who complete this course of instruction are eligible for three hours of college credit in Physical Education and Hygiene.

No criminal charges to be filed against fired deputy

The California attorney general's office has refused to file criminal charges against San Mateo County sheriff's deputy Stanley Botto, who was fired last week for hitting a man who was in his custody in August of 1978.

District Attorney Keith Sorenson said this morning that his office had received a letter from Deputy Attorney General John Runge stating that the state would take no action in Botto's case.

The case, in which Botto is accused of beating Thomas Tigue outside the Miramar Beach Inn last year, was turned over to the state for possible criminal prosecution because Sorenson had represented the sheriff's office in a civil suit filed by Tigue which was settled for $2,000.

Sorenson said the attorney general declined to prosecute Botto because the case would have to be handled as a felony. The statute of limitations has run out for misdemeanor charges.

Sorenson said the letter also stated that Tigue did not wish to press criminal charges against Botto.

"It's very likely that Botto would have been charged with a misdemeanor if the case had come up sooner," Sorenson said.

Tigue, who claims that Botto struck him with such force that his teeth were broken, filed a civil claim for damages against the county.

It was during the course of depositions in the case that the DA turned the matter over to the sheriff for an internal affairs investigation which revealed that Botto had hit Tigue. Sheriff John McDonald last week fired Botto as a result of that investigation. Botto can appeal that decision to the Civil Service Commission.

Important Note Regarding Prices

The prices shown in the right-hand column on each page of this catalog are for reference only, and no representation is made to the effect that any of these prices is the usual or ordinary price at which a particular items is sold, or our present or former selling price. These reference prices are provided to you as a guide to the range of retail selling prices in our catalog distribution area. They are often useful in identifying different units of the same manufacturer.

Most of the prices shown in the right hand column are manufacturer's suggested retail prices supplied to Consumers Distributing. Where manufacturers do not supply suggested retail prices, Consumers Distributing has applied to its cost mark-up percentages based on trade customs (which commonly vary with respect to various types of items) to arrive at a price which it considers to be in accordance with customary trade practices. In any event, these prices may vary in different trading areas depending on shipping and other costs and circumstances which might affect such a price.

No user of this catalog should assume that a savings will be effected or realized in an amount equal to the difference between the figure in the right-hand column and the Consumers Distributing price. In some cases, other retailers may be selling goods at prices equal to or less than Consumers Distributing price for the purpose of clearing goods which are end-of-line or stale merchandise, or by reason of their ordinary business practices.

• All prices are subject to change without notice due to manufacturer's increases or decreases, changes in federal or state taxation or world fluctuations of currencies or the prices of gold, gems and precious metals.

• We're only human so the occasional error may slip through. We are not responsible for typographical and transpositional errors.

• If ever temporary shortages of our advertised items occur, you are assured the special price on a resupply, or comparable savings on a similar item with a similar dollar value.
